18 Plaintiff Genghis Khan Ali Stevenson ("Plaintiff") sues 19 Defendant Gregory Blake ("Blake") for alleged violations of his 20 civil rights under 42 U.S.C. Section 1983. Plaintiff alleges that 21 on March 13, 2007, his civil rights were violated when Blake was 22 fixing the lock on the holding cage in which Plaintiff was placed.
23 Pending before the Court is Blake's Motion for Summary Judgment
24 ("Motion"). Having considered the Motion, Opposition<sup>1/</sup> and Reply 25 papers, the evidence presented, and the relevant law, the Court 26

27 <sup>1/</sup>On November 19, 2012, Plaintiff filed a Motion For Extension of Time To 28 Submit A Supplemental Opposition to Blake's Motion. On November 26, 2012, the Court granted Plaintiff's Motion for Extension of Time and ordered that a Supplemental Opposition to Blake's Motion be filed by December 17, 2012. Plaintiff did not file a Supplemental Opposition.

1 RECOMMENDS that Blake's Motion be DENIED. The Court also DENIES 2 Plaintiff's request for additional discovery.

3 I. BACKGROUND

4 A. Procedural Background

5 On January 18, 2011, Plaintiff filed a civil rights Complaint 6 alleging that Blake acted deliberately indifferent to his safety in 7 violation of the Eighth Amendment.

8 On September 15, 2011, Blake filed an Answer to the Com-9 plaint, and a Demand For Trial By Jury.

10 B. Plaintiff's Allegations

11 The Complaint alleges as follows:

12 Plaintiff is an inmate incarcerated at Calipatria State
13 Prison. [Complaint Under the Civil Rights Act 42 U.S.C. § 1983
14 ("Complaint") at 1.]<sup>2/</sup> On March 13, 2007, Plaintiff was transported 15 by Correctional Officer Lima ("Lima") to the Administration
16 Segregation Unit's ("A.S.U.") law library. (Id. at 3.) Plaintiff 17 was placed and locked inside an individual isolated holding study
18 cage by Officer Armstrong ("Armstrong"). (Id.)

19 Defendant Blake, the correctional plant locksmith, entered 20 the study cage area with his welding equipment where Plaintiff was 21 located. (Id.) Armstrong asked Blake, "What are you doing?" Blake 22 replied that "he was going to fix the study cage locks today." 23 (Id.) Armstrong then asked, "Can't you see I have inmates inside of 24 the study cages?" (Id.) Blake ignored Armstrong and put on his

1 safety gloves, helmet, and face shield, and began to weld on the 2 study cage in which Plaintiff was placed. (Id.)

3 Plaintiff was less than one foot away from the study cage
4 door where Defendant welded, and had nowhere to escape when flames, 5 fire, and sparks began to fly. (Id.) While Blake welded, Plaintiff 6 was burned on his arm, left side of his body, and in his left eye 7 even though he tried to protect himself. (Id.) Plaintiff asked 8 Blake to stop because he was getting burned by the sparks, but Blake
9 ignored Plaintiff's pleas. (Id.) Blake welded on Plaintiff's study 10 cage for five to ten minutes before Blake moved on to the next study 11 cage. (Id.)

12 Plaintiff informed Armstrong that he was burned on his face, 13 the left side of his body, and that flames and sparks got into his 14 eye, which caused redness and blurry vision. (Id.) Shortly thereaf-
15 ter, Plaintiff was transported by Lima to the A.S.U. medical clinic
16 where he was examined and treated for injuries. (Id.)

17 Plaintiff asserts that he did not ask and did not want "to be 18 inflicted with this unnecessary pain."<sup>3/</sup> Plaintiff contends that 19 Blake acted with deliberate indifference to his safety on March 13, 20 2007, which constituted an "excessive, maliciously [sic], and 21 sadistically [sic] injury to Plaintiff [sic] health and safety."
22 (Id.)

24
25
26
27
28 <sup>3/</sup> Taken in the context of Plaintiff's complaint, the Court construes this statement to mean that Plaintiff did not ask or want Blake (or anybody else) to weld on the study cage while Plaintiff was locked inside of it.

1           C.    Blake's Statement Of Facts

2                   1.    Welding Performed On Plaintiff's Cage

3           Defendant's Motion and attached Declarations provide an 4   explanation of the incident on March 13, 2007,<sup>4/</sup> which is contrary 5   to Plaintiff's account:

6           Blake worked at Calipatria State Prison as a locksmith from 7   April 2004 until he retired in December 2010. [Declaration of 8   Defendant Blake in Support of Defendant's Motion for Summary
9   Judgment ("Blake Decl.") at ¶ 1.] On the morning of March 13, 2007, 10   prior to the beginning of the normal work day, repairs were 11   completed on all of the holding cells' tray slot locks and the locks 12   on the door levers in the A.S.U. law library, but one of the door 13   levers needed further repair. [Defendant's Notice of Motion and 14   Motion for Summary Judgment; Memorandum of Points and Authorities in 15   Support ("Motion for Summary Judgment") at 7.] Plaintiff was 16   brought to the law library on the morning of March 13, 2007 and 17   placed in a study cage. (Id.)

18           The study cages in the law library, have two locks on each 19   door; one for the food tray port (used to pass food, papers, or 20   other items into the cage) and another on the door lever used to 21   open or close the cage. (Id.) On the date of the incident, Blake 22   was verbally instructed to return (for a second time) to the law 23   library to fix the lock on the door lever attached to cage number 6.
24   (Id.) Blake briefly spoke to Armstrong, but Blake does not believe 25   that Plaintiff overheard their conversation. (Id.)

26
27 28           <sup>4/</sup> For the remainder of this Report and Recommendation, "incident" will refer to the events of March 13, 2007.

1 Blake used a grinder to cut the chain from the door lever, 2 which took approximately one to three seconds. (Blake Decl. at ¶ 3 8.) Blake then used a welder to reattach the chain to the outer 4 lever, which took less than five seconds. (Id.) It was a speedy 5 process. (Id.) During the welding, a small flame was emitted from 6 the end of the welder, but the flame was focused on the object being 7 welded (the lock), not freely scattered. (Id. at ¶ 9.) Tiny sparks 8 were discharged while Blake welded, but not beyond the area of the 9 tray slot, as a large metal plate protected the area where Blake
10 worked.<sup>5/</sup> (Id.)

11 When Blake re-welded the chain on the outer door lever, he 12 did not hear Plaintiff say anything, nor did he hear Plaintiff make 13 any objections or complaints, as Plaintiff's back was to Blake.
14 (Id. at ¶ 10.) If Blake had heard Plaintiff object to the welding, 15 he would have stopped and informed Plaintiff of what he was doing.
16 (Id.) Accordingly, Blake did not even know Plaintiff's identity 17 until Plaintiff later filed his grievance. (Id. at ¶ 11.) Blake 18 did not intend to hurt Plaintiff, nor did he conceive that he was 19 putting Plaintiff at any risk of harm because the tray slot metal 20 plate was located between Blake and Plaintiff during the welding, 21 and the entire repair process was short. (Id. at ¶ 12.)

23
25 <sup>5/</sup> Plaintiff claims that the large metal plate was left open during the 26 welding process. "[T]he passing slot was left open for Ofc. Armstrong [to] remove 27 the handcuff section of the waist restraint [in order to] pass material back and 28 forth, [but] Plaintiff did not close the passing slot, Ofc. Armstrong did not close it and we know Def. Blake did not close it." [Defendant's Opposition to Plaintiff's Motion for Summary Judgment ("Opposition") at 6; see also Plaintiff
Genghis Khan Ali Stevenson, Supporting Declaration for Response to Defendant Blake Summary Judgment ("Stevenson Decl.") at ¶2 ("[I] left the passing slot up to get my legal request ready.")].

1                                2.    Nurse's Examination Of Plaintiff

2                    Licensed Vocational Nurse, T. Molina ("Molina"), examined
 3 Plaintiff on March 13, 2007 at approximately 12:45 p.m. [Declaration
 4 of T. Molina in Support of Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment
 5 ("Molina Decl.") at ¶ 3.] Plaintiff told Molina that he felt a burn
 6 on his skin and his vision was blurry. (Id. at ¶ 6.) Molina 7 examined Plaintiff and found no indication that Plaintiff was 8 burned. (Id.) In fact, Plaintiff has since admitted that he does 9 not have any marks on his body resulting from the incident.
 10 [Deposition of Genghis Khan Ali Stevenson ("Stevenson Dep.") at 12.]
 11 Molina peered into Plaintiff's eye with an otoscope,<sup>6/</sup> and concluded 12 that Plaintiff's inner pupil was "somewhat red," but she saw no 13 signs of a foreign object or any scratch to the cornea or other 14 surface of the eye. (Molina Decl. at ¶ 7.) Moreover, Molina 15 conducted a Snellen test,<sup>7/</sup> which determined that Plaintiff had 20/20 16 vision. (Id.) Molina cleaned out Plaintiff's eye with saline 17 solution. (Id.)

18                    On March 14, 2007, Plaintiff was examined by his primary care 19 physician S. Young ("Dr. Young").<sup>8/</sup> (Motion for Summary Judgment at 20 9.) During that visit, Plaintiff denied all signs of eye problems.
 21 (Id.) Plaintiff was told to schedule another appointment in a month regarding his/her examination of Plaintiff.

3 II. LEGAL STANDARD

4 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 56(a) mandates the grant of 5 summary judgment "if the movant shows that there is no genuine 6 dispute as to any material fact and the movant is entitled to 7 judgment as a matter of law." The standard for granting a motion 8 for summary judgment is essentially the same as for the granting of 9 a directed verdict. Judgment must be entered "if, under the 10 governing law, there can be but one reasonable conclusion as to the 11 verdict." Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 250 12 (1986). But "[i]f reasonable minds could differ," judgment should 13 not be entered in favor of the moving party. Id. at 251; see also 14 Blankenhorn v. City of Orange, 485 F.3d 463, 470 (9th Cir. 2007) 15 ("If a rational trier of fact might resolve the issue in favor of 16 the nonmoving party, summary judgment must be denied.") (alteration 17 omitted).

18 The parties bear the same substantive burden of proof as 19 would apply at a trial on the merits, including plaintiff's burden
20 to establish any element essential to their case. Anderson, 477 21 U.S. at 252; Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 322 (1986).
22 Lack of genuine issues of material fact on a single element of a 23 claim for relief is sufficient to warrant summary judgment on that 24 claim. Celotex Corp., 477 U.S. at 322-23.

25 The moving party bears the initial burden of identifying the 26 elements of the claim in the pleadings, or other evidence, and 27 "'showing' - that is, pointing out to the district court - that 28 there is an absence of evidence to support the nonmoving party's

1 case." Id. at 325; see also Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c). "A material 2 issue of fact is one that affects the outcome of the litigation and 3 requires a trial to resolve the parties' differing versions of the 4 truth." S.E.C. v. Seaboard Corp., 677 F.2d 1301, 1306 (9th Cir.
5 1982).

6 The burden then shifts to the nonmoving party to establish 7 beyond the pleadings, that there is a genuine dispute for trial.
8 Celotex Corp., 477 U.S. at 324. To successfully rebut a properly 9 supported motion for summary judgment, the nonmoving party "must 10 point to some facts in the record that demonstrate a genuine issue 11 of material fact and, with all reasonable inferences made in the 12 plaintiffs' favor, could convince a reasonable jury to find for the 13 plaintiff." Reese v. Jefferson Sch. Dist. No. 14J, 208 F.3d 736, 14 738 (9th Cir. 2000) (citing Rule 56; Celotex Corp., 477 U.S. at 323; 15 Anderson, 477 U.S. at 249).

16 "When opposing parties tell two different stories, one of 17 which is blatantly contradicted by the record, so that no reasonable 18 jury could believe it, a court should not adopt that version of the 19 facts for purposes of ruling on a motion for summary judgment."
20 Scott v. Harris, 550 U.S. 372, 380 (2007).

21 III. Discussion

22 A. Blake Is Not Entitled To Summary Judgment On Plaintiff's 23 Eighth Amendment Claim

24 Plaintiff asserts that Blake violated his Eighth Amendment 25 right to be free from cruel and unusual punishment because Blake was 26 deliberately indifferent to Plaintiff's safety when he welded on the 27 door of the holding cage while Plaintiff was locked inside of the 28 cage. (Complaint at 3.) Blake asserts that Plaintiff's Eighth

1 Amendment rights were not violated. (Motion for Summary Judgment at 2 12.)

3 "A prison official's 'deliberate indifference' to a substan-4 tial risk of serious harm to an inmate violates the Eighth Amend-5 ment." Farmer v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825, 833 (1994). To succeed on 6 the merits of a deliberate indifference claim, Plaintiff must show 7 that: (1) the Defendant knew Plaintiff faced a substantial risk of 8 serious harm; and (2) Defendant disregarded that risk by failing to 9 take reasonable measures to abate it. Id. at 847. In order to 10 establish the second element of the Farmer test, a defendant must 11 know of and disregard an excessive risk to inmate health or safety.
12 Id. at 837. Therefore, a plaintiff must prove more than mere 13 negligence on the defendant's part. Robins v. Meecham, 60 F.3d 14 1436, 1440 (9th Cir. 1995); see also L.W. v. Grubbs, 92 F.3d 894, 15 900 (9th Cir. 1996) ("Deliberate indifference to a known, or so 16 obvious as to imply knowledge of, danger, by a supervisor who 17 participated in creating the danger, is enough. Less is not a 18 enough.").

19 Here, Plaintiff alleges that Blake ignored Armstrong, and 20 welded on the cage, even though Armstrong directed Blake's attention 21 to Plaintiff's positioning inside the holding cage. [Complaint at 22 3; see also Stevenson Decl. at ¶ 7 ("I witness[ed] Ofc. T. Armstrong 23 [stepping back] trying to protect herself and [she told] Def. Blake, 24 'Can't you see that I have inmates in here?' And to stop it. Def.
25 Blake ignore[d] [Armstrong].")]. Plaintiff was only one foot away 26 from where Blake welded. (Complaint at 3.) During the incident, 27 Plaintiff and Armstrong requested Blake to stop because Plaintiff 28 was being burned by the fire, sparks, and flames emitted during the

1 process. (Id.; see also Stevenson Decl. at ¶¶ 6, 12.) Plaintiff
2 says that the welding continued for over five minutes. (Stevenson 3 Decl. at ¶ 12.)

4 Blake argues that the elements of the Farmer test have not 5 been met because Plaintiff has not shown that Defendant perceived 6 any risk of harm to Plaintiff "because there was a solid metal 7 barrier (the tray slot metal plate) between Stevenson and the 8 welding, and the repairs were very quick." [Motion for Summary 9 Judgment at 12; see also Blake Decl. at ¶ 12 ("I do not believe the 10 sparks went beyond the area of the tray slot, as this large metal 11 plate protected the area where I was welding.")]. As noted above, 12 Plaintiff asserts that the metal plate was left open. Therefore, if 13 the tray slot metal plate was left open, Blake may have had 14 knowledge of Plaintiff's substantial risk of serious harm, espe-
15 cially because Plaintiff told Blake that sparks were striking him.
16 Additionally, if the tray slot metal plate was left open, it is 17 clear that Blake did not take reasonable steps to alleviate the 18 harm, if he in fact welded for over five minutes, despite Plain-19 tiff's cries for help.

20 "If conflicting inferences may be drawn from the facts, the 21 case must go to the jury." LaLonde v. County of Riverside, 204 F.3d 22 947, 959 (9th Cir. 2000) (citations omitted). Here, Plaintiff's and 23 Blake's version of the incident differ in material respects.
24 Neither Plaintiff nor Blake presented a statement or declaration of 25 Armstrong (the only third party witness) regarding the incident's 26 duration or the positioning of the tray slot metal plate. However, 27 Correctional Plant Manager II, S. Ochoa ("Ochoa"), recommended 28 further administration action be taken regarding the incident in the 1 Confidential Supplement to Appeal: "Appeal Inquiry." This Court is 2 not prepared to declare the record so lopsided that Blake must 3 prevail as a matter of law. See Anderson, 477 U.S. at 255 4 (maintaining that justifiable inferences are to be drawn in non-5 movant's favor); see also Nelson v. City of Davis, 571 F.3d 924, 929 6 (9th Cir. 2009) ("A judge must not grant summary judgment based on 7 his determination that one set of facts is more believable than 8 another."). Here, there is a question of fact as to whether the 9 tray slot metal plate was opened or closed during the time when 10 Blake welded on the holding cage in which Plaintiff was placed. If 11 the tray slot metal plate was open during the welding, and Blake 12 welded for more than five minutes, a trier of fact could find that 13 Blake knew that Plaintiff faced a substantial risk of serious harm

14 and that Blake disregarded the risk by failing to take reasonable 15 steps to abate it. As a result, the Court RECOMMENDS that Blake's 16 Motion in this regard be DENIED.

17 B. Defendant Is Not Entitled To Summary Judgment Even 18 Though Plaintiff Suffered De Minimis Injuries

19 Blake contends that Plaintiff did not suffer any physical 20 injuries based on Molina's report, which indicated that she "found 21 no signs of any burn marks such as blisters, welts, redness, or any 22 other objective indicia of having been burned." (Molina Decl. at ¶ 23 6.) Even if Plaintiff did not suffer physical injury, the Court 24 rejects the argument that physical injury is required for a 25 Plaintiff to establish an Eighth Amendment claim. In Farmer, the 26 Supreme Court specifically rejected the argument that an inmate must 27 wait until he is actually harmed to bring his Eighth Amendment 28 claim. 511 U.S. at 846 ("[A] subjective approach to deliberate

1 indifference does not require a prisoner seeking 'a remedy for 2 unsafe conditions [to] await a tragic event... before obtaining 3 relief.'" (citations omitted). Although Farmer was decided in the 4 context of injunctive relief, where the petitioners in that case 5 sought to prevent a substantial risk of harm from ripening into 6 actual harm, the Court declines to depart from the plain language of 7 that case, which requires inmates only to "face a substantial risk 8 of serious harm," not suffer actual harm.<sup>2/</sup> Id. at 847.

9       However, the Court is of the opinion that Plaintiff's 10 injuries were de minimis, and agrees with Blake that Plaintiff 11 cannot recover for psychological injury. 42 U.S.C. § 1997e(e).
12 Section 1997e(e) bars federal civil actions by prisoners for mental 13 or emotional suffering that occurs while in jail absent physical 14 injury. The Ninth Circuit has determined that a plaintiff who 15 suffers de minimis injury is similarly barred from bringing a 16 1997e(e) action. Oliver v. Keller, 289 F.3d 623, 629 (9th Cir.
17 2002) (concluding that appellant's injuries that included mild back 18 and leg pain, and a canker sore were de minimis). Similarly here, 19 Plaintiff's contention that he may need long-term eye care is 20 unsupported by the record, and his burnt arm hair cannot be 21 considered more than a de minimis injury.

22       C. Plaintiff's Request For Additional Discovery Is Denied

23       Plaintiff seeks to obtain affidavits from Armstrong and Lima 24 regarding the incident because Plaintiff claims that they are eye 25

26       <sup>2/</sup>The Court notes that Plaintiff's version of the incident is inconsistent 27 with his benign injuries. If Blake welded on Plaintiff's cage for five to ten 28 minutes while sparks dispersed everywhere, Plaintiff probably would have been subjected to more than burnt arm hair and a red eye. But Plaintiff's and Blake's version of the incident significantly differ such that summary judgment is precluded.

1 witnesses that could "give [] first hand account[s]" of the 2 incident, and Plaintiff "requested these documents in discovery."
3 [Plaintiff's Request to Deny Defendant Blake Summary Judgment; Rule
4 56(f) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure ("Rule 56(f) Motion") 5 at 2.] The Court construes this to mean that the Plaintiff is 6 referring to his Request for Production of Documents, No. 3, which 7 states:

8 Any and all documents, written reports, originals or 9 copies, identifiably as "Confidential Supplement to 10 Appeal Inquiry Log No. CAL-A-07-0054" of Calipatria State Prison Completion of the investigation final review concerning the incident of March 13, 2007.

11 Documents responsive to this request were produced by Blake 12 pursuant to this Court's Order of October 3, 2012, and with the 13 Declaration of M. Ormand in Support of Blake's Opposition to 14 Plaintiff's Motion for Sanctions. Affidavits of Armstrong and Lima 15 were not included in those productions of documents. In any event, 16 Plaintiff had ample time to obtain the statements of, or take the 17 depositions of, Armstrong and Lima, and did not do so. Therefore, 18 Plaintiff's request is DENIED because the discovery cutoff in this 19 case has long since expired.

20 D. Blake Is Not Entitled To Qualified Immunity

21 Blake contends that summary judgment is proper because he is 22 entitled to qualified immunity in that he did not violate Plain-23 tiff's constitutional rights. Plaintiff contends that Blake is not 24 entitled to qualified immunity because "this case presents...
25 misconduct so egregious that any reasonable official would have 26 known that it violates the Constitution..." (Opposition at 10.)

27 Qualified immunity shields government officials performing 28 discretionary functions from liability for civil damages unless

1 their conduct violates clearly established statutory or constitu-
 2 tional rights of which a reasonable person would have known.
 3 Anderson v. Creighton, 483 U.S. 635, 640 (1987). "In a suit against 4 an officer for an alleged violation of a constitutional right, the 5 requisites of a qualified immunity defense must be considered in 6 proper sequence. Where the defendant seeks qualified immunity, a 7 ruling on that issue should be made early in the proceedings so that 8 the costs and expenses of trial are avoided where the defense is 9 dispositive." Saucier v. Katz, 533 U.S. 194, 200 (2001).<sup>10/</sup>

10 "Qualified immunity is 'an entitlement not to stand trial or 11 face the other burdens of litigation.'" Id. at 197 [quoting Mitchell 12 v. Forsyth, 472 U.S. 511, 526 (1985)]. The privilege is "an 13 immunity from suit rather than a mere defense to liability; and like 14 an absolute immunity, it is effectively lost if the case is 15 erroneously permitted to go to trial." Mitchell, 472 U.S. at 526.
 16 Thus, the Supreme Court has "repeatedly... stressed the importance 17 of resolving immunity questions at the earliest possible stage in 18 litigation." Hunter v. Bryant, 502 U.S. 224, 227 (1991) (per 19 curiam).<sup>11/</sup>

24 <sup>10/</sup> Pursuant to the holding in Pearson v. Callahan, 555 U.S. 223 (2009), the 25 Court uses its discretion, and determines the qualified immunity issue, for purposes of summary judgment, pursuant to the Saucier two-step inquiry.

26 <sup>11/</sup> "[Q]uite aside from the special concerns regarding the need for early 27 resolution of matters concerning immunity, litigants are ordinarily entitled to 28 resolution of their summary judgment motions through a determination whether there are material facts in dispute regarding the elements necessary to establish liability." Paine v. City of Lompoc, 265 F.3d 975, 984 (9th Cir. 2001) (internal citation omitted).

1 show the officer's conduct violated a constitutional right? This 2 must be the initial inquiry." Saucier, 533 U.S. at 199 [citing 3 Siegert v. Gilley, 500 U.S. 226, 232 (1991)]. "If no constitutional 4 right would have been violated were the allegations established, 5 there is no necessity for further inquiries concerning qualified 6 immunity." Id.

7 "On the other hand, if a violation could be made out on a 8 favorable view of the parties' submissions, the next, sequential 9 step is to ask whether the right was clearly established. This 10 inquiry, it is vital to note, must be undertaken in light of the 11 specific context of the case, not as a broad general proposition." 12 Id. Thus, "the right the official is alleged to have violated must 13 have been 'clearly established' in a more particularized, and hence 14 more relevant sense: The contours of the right must be sufficiently 15 clear that a reasonable official would understand that what he is 16 doing violates that right." Id. [citing Anderson, 483 U.S. at 17 640)]. "The relevant, dispositive inquiry in determining whether a 18 right is clearly established is whether it would be clear to the 19 reasonable officer that his conduct was unlawful in the situation he 20 confronted." Id. [citing Wilson v. Layne, 526 U.S. 603, 615 (1999) 21 ["(A)s... explained in Anderson, the right allegedly violated must 22 be defined at the appropriate level of specificity before a court 23 can determine if it was clearly established.")]. "If the law did 24 not put the officer on notice that his conduct would be clearly 25 unlawful, summary judgment based on qualified immunity is appropri-26 ate." Id. at 2156-57 [citing Malley v. Briggs, 475 U.S. 335, 341 27 (1986) (qualified immunity protects "all but the plainly incompetent 28 or those who knowingly violate the law.")].

1 Here, viewed in a light most favorable to Plaintiff, Blake
2 may have violated Plaintiff's Eighth Amendment right when he welded 3 on the lock of Plaintiff's cage for over five minutes while 4 Plaintiff asked Blake to stop because Plaintiff was getting burned.
5 As stated above, the Court has found a question of fact as to 6 whether Plaintiff was free from cruel and unusual punishment and 7 whether Blake was deliberately indifferent to Plaintiff's safety.
8 Therefore, pursuant to the analysis under Saucier, Plaintiff may be 9 able to show to a trier of fact that his Eighth Amendment rights 10 were violated.

11 Further, it is clearly established than an inmate must be 12 free from cruel and unusual punishment pursuant to the Eighth 13 Amendment. Since the Court has found a question of fact as to 14 whether Plaintiff was free from cruel and unusual punishment, so too 15 is there a question of fact as to whether Blake knew welding on the 16 lock of a holding cage for over five minutes while being asked to 17 stop by the Plaintiff incarcerated in that cage, because that inmate 18 was being burned by sparks, violated clearly established law.
19 Therefore, Blake is not entitled to summary judgment as to qualified 20 immunity under the circumstances of this case.

21 IV. CONCLUSION AND RECOMMENDATION

22 The Court, having reviewed Blake's Motion for Summary
23 Judgment, Plaintiff's Opposition to the Motion for Summary Judgment, 24 Blake's Reply, and all the documents lodged therewith and attached 25 thereto, finds that a question of facts exists at to whether Blake 26 violated Plaintiff's Eighth Amendment rights. Further, the Court 27 finds that Blake is not entitled to qualified immunity under the 28 circumstances of this case. Therefore, the Court RECOMMENDS that

1 Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment be DENIED. The Court also 2 DENIES Plaintiff's request for additional discovery.

3 This Report and Recommendation of the undersigned Magistrate 4 Judge is submitted to the United States District Judge assigned to 5 this case, pursuant to the provision of 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1).

6 IT IS ORDERED that no later than February 15, 2013, any party
7 to this action may file written objections with the court and serve 8 a copy on all parties. The document should be captioned "Objections 9 to Report and Recommendation."

10 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that any reply to the objections shall 11 be filed with the Court and served on all parties no later than 12 March 1, 2013. The parties are advised that failure to file 13 objections within the specified time may waive the right to raise 14 those objections on appeal of the Court's order. Martinez v. Ylst, 15 951 F.2d 1153 (9th Cir. 1991).
